Ecclesiastical Treasures

Monasteries and churches in the Troodos foothills

This beautiful route to the higher foothills of the Troodos mountains offers unrivalled scenery and the opportunity to visit some of Cyprus' finest ecclesiastical treasures – from the imposing monastery of Macheras to the cave-church near Deftera and the exquisitely painted timber-roofed churches in the mountains' chapels. The route deserves a full day to give time to visit the churches and explore the many picturesque villages, including the practically abandoned

Lefkosa

Approx. 4,5 Hours

but painstakingly preserved 18th century village of Fikardou. The roads are generally good as they wind in and out of forested areas, but due caution must be exercised because of the many bends.

The church of Panagia Chrysospilliotissa is a beautiful example of a type of Levantine monastery or hermitage uncommon in Cyprus

Take off from Lefkosa, drive through Strovolos, heading southwest of Lefkosa, via Lakatamia to go further out into the capital's outskirts, past the beautiful olive groves of Kato Deftera to find Pano Deftera and the striking church of Panagia Chrysospilliotissa (Our Lady of the Golden Cave). As its name suggests, the church is in fact a sandstone cave, one of three found within the huge rock formation, and a beautiful example of a type of Levantine monastery or hermitage uncommon in Cyprus. Possibly dating back to the early Christian period, the church, which houses a rain-inducing icon of the Virgin Mary invoked in times of drought, celebrates on August 15th.

Agios Irakleidios

Drive through the flat hills of Psimolofou, a small 12th century village with narrow streets and some houses made of mudbrick. Take a right turn into the village to visit the 19th century church of Panagia Katholiki with its beautiful wall paintings.

Past Psimolofou take a right turn to reach Episkopio and follow the signs to Agios Irakleidios Monastery, located on the south of Politiko village. Built in the 4th century, the monastery, whose current buildings date back to 1773, serves today as a convent and features the tomb of St. Irakleidios, the first bishop of the ancient city kingdom of Tamasos. He was buried in the cave he resided in during the 1st century AD, over which a large three-aisled basilica was built during the 4th century. The exact date of the establishment of the city-kingdom of Tamasos is not known. Excavations have brought to light a temple of Aphrodite, two majestic royal tombs, part of the city's fortifications, copper-processing installations and copper workshops among other. Six large 6th century BC limestone statues excavated on the site are now exhibited in the Cyprus Archaeological Museum.

Drive southeast through the village via a narrow dirt road to reach Pera and travel south to Kampia, which lies east of Tamasos dam. If you're looking for some outdoor adventure, visit the ruins of the village's old settlement, situated at the bottom of the valley and west of the village, and enjoy the unspoilt landscapes of the area.

Mantra tou Kampiou Kapedes

Follow the main road further south to reach the roundabout of Kapedes, situated at the foot of Machairas mountain, taking a right-hand turn to ascend to Machairas Monastery.

On your way to the monastery, about 5 kilometres southwest of Kapedes, take some time to visit the pine and cedar rich picnic site Mandra tou Kampiou, where you can also opt for the easy circular nature trail of Mantra tou Kampiou which is also accessible for wheelchairs.

Back on the main road, drive past the small and beautiful 14th century Byzantine chapel of Agios

Olive Picking

Visit one of the island's most famous monasteries, the royal and Stavropegeic monastery of Panagia tou Machaira

Onoufrios, and opt for a right turn up to the hideout of Grigoris Afxentiou, second-in-command of the EOKA anti-colonial struggle, who, after quoting King Leonidas' famous 'molon lave' (come and get me) phrase to his enemies, left his last breath there after his hideout was doused with petrol and set on fire.

Back on to the main road, follow the signs to visit one of the island's most famous monasteries, the royal and Stavropegeic monastery of Panagia tou Machaira, dedicated to the Virgin Mary. Situated at an altitude of 870 metres, the monastery lies at the eastern extremity of Troodos on the beautiful pine slopes of Mount Kionia. The monastery, which is autocephalous as indicated by the cross at its foundations and funded by emperor Emmanuel Komninos, dates back to 1145

AD and was founded by hermits Neofytos and Ignatios. The two discovered the miraculous icon of Panagia of Machairas, attributed to Agios Loukas the Evangelist, in a nearby cave. Legend has it that they had to use a knife (macheri or machera in Greek) given to them by divine hand to get through the cave's bushes and reach the icon, housed at the monastery. The monastery's

basement features the monks' original cells, stables and storage areas, and also houses a collection of old books and manuscripts, icons and other religious artefacts. Keeping vows as strict as those of Mount Athos in Greece, the monastery's self-sustained devout brotherhood lives mainly off the many agricultural activities offered in the area.

Take the steep winding road down the valley to Lazanias, a historic village of a few stone-built houses and a wood carved pitch-roofed church built in 1855 dedicated to Saint George.

Follow the main road to Gourri and on to Fikardou, a beautifully conserved village, north of Lazanias, which serves as a great example of architecture of mountainous Cyprus in the 18th century. Abandoned in the beginning of the 19th century, the village has been declared an ancient monument, receiving the

Europa Nostra

Award in 1987. Take a few minutes off your route to walk the village for a journey back in time, through the quaint stone built houses with their remarkable woodwork and folk architecture, but be sure to have your camera in hand. Two of these houses have been turned into museums featuring rural items, tools and utensils from the past as well as photographs, plans, drawings and texts illustrating the preservation process.

Achangel Michael church Mitsero

Follow the road to travel further north past Klirou and into Malounta, taking a left turn to the village of Agrokipia. As you enter the village take a right turn to visit the historic Agios Pantaleimon Monastery (Monastery of Agios Pantaleimonas of Achera), located in the valley of Achera and offering beautiful views of the valley towards Lefkosia.

Fikardou serves as a great example of architecture of mountainous Cyprus of the 18th century

Follow the main road to the rich in minerals village of Mitsero, famous for its mining settlement with heaps of mine waste and large empty hollows still present on its landscape. The mine, which began operating in 1952, provided work for many, attracting workers from all over Cyprus who settled here with their families. The mine, rich in copper and iron pyrite (fool's gold), is worth a stop for any photographer enthusiast.

Back on to the main road, leaving Mitsero behind, follow the road and take a left to travel south towards Platanistassa. On your way there, take a right turn to ascend to the mediaeval Stavros tou Agiasmati Church, approximately 5 kilometres northeast of Platanistassa. A UNESCO World Heritage Site, the church's single-aisled building features a steep-pitched timber roof, which extends beyond the main structure forming a portico on all sides, a feature unique to Cyprus. Retaining some of the most complete cycles of mural paintings of the second half of the 15th century in Cyprus, the church's wall paintings represent a mixture of Palaiologan and local naove art with a blend of Italian Renaissance elements.

Askas

Back on to the main road, travel south through Platanistasa and take a left at the end of the road towards Fterikoudi, past Askas to reach Palaichori, a village with a rich history and a unique character attracting locals and foreigners all year round. Visitors looking to escape the busy life of the city will find many options for accommodation here as well as restaurants and cafes around the village's picturesque stone-built square. Situated on a small hill with a beautiful view of the village to the east, you will find the Church of the Transfiguration of the Saviour. A UNESCO World Heritage Site, the church was built in the early 16th century and belongs to the single-aisled, timber-roof type churches of the Troodos region. Perhaps the most significant example of Venetian paintings, the church's interior is entirely covered with wall paintings constituting one of the most complete and elaborate groups of wall paintings of Cyprus' late Byzantine period.

Follow the main road past Palaichori and take a right towards Agros and another right uphill through the narrow 8-kilometre winding road that leads to Alona, amidst the area's beautiful vineyards. When you reach the main road, make a left and travel past Polystypos, especially known for its hazelnut production.

At the Xyliatos Dam you will come across the starting point of a circular nature trail

Continue north towards Lagoudera to visit the Church of Panagiatou Araka. A listed UNESCO World Heritage Site, this 12th century church contains some of the finest frescoes of the late Comnenian style prevailing throughout Greece, the Balkans and Russia. Along with the churches of Asinou and Agios Nikolaos tis Stegis, Panagiatou Araka is considered to be one of the most important Byzantine churches in Cyprus.

Descending towards Lefkosa, you come across Xyliatos Dam on your left, between the villages of Xyliatos and Lagoudera, where you will find the starting point of a circular nature trail, 3.8 kilometres long with a medium degree of difficulty. If you don't have the time to walk the trail, which requires at least an hour to walk, but still want to enjoy the area's alpine setting, visitors can opt for a short stop at the nearby picnic site.

Drive through the village of Xyliatos past Agia Marina and Orounta to reach the main road to Peristerona. Take a right towards Akaki and follow the road back to Lefkosa through Kokkinotrimithia.

Accommodation

Enjoy a different kind of holiday in Cyprus off the beaten track in peace and tranquillity by staying in a restored traditional house in one of the island's many picturesque villages.

Awaken to the sound of a cock crowing, or a donkey braying, take your breakfast in the shade of a vine with the smell of jasmine or wild thyme in the air, go for a long walk in the pine-scented forest, watch how the local bread and 'halloumi' cheese are made and experience rural living at first hand. And when the sun goes down, just lie back and enjoy Cyprus' magical evenings gazing at one of the starriest skies you will ever see, lulled by the gentle sounds of the night crickets.

You will be given the warmest of welcomes, as Cypriots have a reputation for being hospitable, and you will certainly end up making many good friends before you leave. Don't be surprised if your hosts go out of their way to treat you as one of the family, lavishing a veritable feast of local delicacies upon you.

Kalopanagiotis Lefkosa

Try everything by ordering 'mezedes' and wash it all down with one of the local beers or wines. Cyprus' sweet Commandaria wine is one of the oldest in the world, and if you're brave enough, have a shot of 'zivania', which is almost pure alcohol and packs a neat punch.

More than just for summer, Cyprus is perfect at any time of year. Blessed with an abundance of sunshine and warm year-round temperatures, it is a great place to enjoy winter sun, to avoid the crowds in the autumn and to marvel at nature's springtime tapestry of colour. With rugged coasts and mountain peaks, sunny vineyards and cool pine forests, flat expanses of wheat fields and lush citrus orchards, the island has something for everyone.

And when you've had your fill of relaxing, you'll find that in Cyprus there's much to see and do. Play a round of golf, go cycling, or hiking round the countryside, or take up a new sport. Or wonder at spectacular Greek temples, opulent Byzantine churches and ancient artefacts that are the remnants of a civilisation going back 10,000 years.

The properties offered are a great base from where to explore the island. Carefully renovated to maintain their distinctive character, while including all modern conveniences, they are ideal for those seeking comfort and privacy in friendly and attractive surroundings.

Byzantine Churches and Monasteries

Many fine examples of Byzantine art have survived on the island that can be seen /admired both in painted churches with colourful frescoes and monasteries. Because of the eminent importance of the icons and frescoes, most churches and monasteries are kept locked. Therefore, visitors wishing to see any of these churches should first ask at the "coffee shop" of the village for the priest or any other responsible person who will escort them. The Cyprus Tourism Organisation's publication "10,000 years of History and Civilisation" refers briefly to various churches and monasteries on the island. Some of the monasteries have visiting hours which have to be respected by visitors.

Important Notes:

- Wearing shorts, backless tops,

very short dresses etc., should be avoided.
- The use of flash is prohibited as it may damage the icons and frescoes.
- No accommodation is available in the monasteries.
- Most of the monasteries and convents remain closed on Saturday or Sunday for group visits.
- It is advisable especially for certain monasteries e.g. Machairas and Agios Irakleidios that the guiding should be done outside the monasteries.
