Off the Beaten Track

Into the heart of the Pafos forest

This challenging route takes you into the heart of the Pafos forest, through spectacular scenery, into the Cedar Valley, up to Cyprus' most famous monastery and some of its most remote villages and back down along the craggy northern coast with its rocky outcrops and sand and pebble beaches. Ideal for a well-planned escape from the searing heat of the lowland, it is nevertheless quite a long and demanding drive along narrow, mountain roads and may be best enjoyed over two days. Road conditions vary, and though the natural landscape is of unparalleled beauty, drivers should exercise due caution, especially on the forest roads. However, it is also a particularly rewarding

SCAN & EXPLORE ROUTE 8

Steni Museum

Type: Circular
Suggested Starting point: Polis
Duration: Approx. 4 Hours
Distance: 162 Km

The chances of spotting a Mouflon out in the open are pretty slim so if you'd like to see one, be sure to make the stop route, offering an unrivalled opportunity to enjoy the splendour of the local flora and fauna, including the protected wild sheep, the Cyprus mouflon.

Begin your trip preferably with a full tank as gas stations can only be found near the end of this route. Set off from Polis for an amazing drive through Steni, making an optional stop at the local Museum of Village life in the centre of the village, and onto the small and traditional village of Peristerona, which has a great view of Evretou Dam and the Akamas peninsula. As you approach the village you come across the Byzantine Museum of Arsinoe, and the church of St. Mamas built in 1911 next to it. More than 60 icons from the 13th to the 19th century are exhibited at the museum which also features an olive press.

Carry on to Lysos, a traditional little village of the Pafos forest with a charming late 15th or early 16th century church with Byzantine and Gothic elements, Panagia Chryseleousa.

Cedar Valley

Take the time to see the biggest animal of the Cyprus fauna, a symbol and a significant part of the island's natural heritage, the mouflon at the Mouflon enclosure. The steep slopes of the Pafos forest and its plethora of pine, cedar and golden oak trees make for a great home for this endemic wild sheep. They have been classified as feral animals and the whole of Pafos forest has long been declared a game protected area. The chances of spotting one out in the open are pretty slim so if you'd like to see one, be sure to make the stop.

Leaving behind the Mouflon enclosure, drive further up into the mountain. Follow the road to reach the Stavros tis Psokas picnic site located at the nearby forest station at an altitude of 900m. Take a break from the demanding drive and enjoy a rest under the pines and oriental plane trees for a sip of water and a huge dose of oxygen. Here you will find all the basic facilities including restrooms.

Make your way to Kykkos Monastery through the fairy tale like scenery of the Cedar Valley.

The road to the valley is full of tight turns and requires slow driving and some patience. Park beyond the tight corner and you'll find yourself at the starting point of a short hike up through the valley all the way up to the peak of the Tripylos

Holy Cross church 'Stavros tis Psokas' mountain. The hike is only about two and a half kilometres but it is quite the uphill climb so be sure to have the right shoes for the occasion. If you have the time, make a point of reaching the peak for some artistic 360 degree photography. On a clear and sunny day your view stretches all the way from the coastline of Morfou and Chrysochou bay and all the hills and plains between

Kykkos Monastery

Troodos and the sea.

When you reach the main road take a small detour and follow the signs to Kykkos Monastery, one of the wealthiest and most striking monasteries on the island. Founded sometime around the end of the 11th century by the Byzantine emperor Alexios I Komnenos, the Holy Monastery of the Virgin of Kykkos lies at an altitude of 1318 metres on the northwest face of Troodos. This is where the first president of Cyprus, Archbishop Makarios III began his ecclesiastical career as a monk in 1926. His tomb lies 3 Kilometres west of Kykkos monastery and remains a popular visitor destination.

The icon of the Virgin Mary, said to have been painted by St. Luke, is one of the most significant of the Orthodox Christian church worldwide, and has been protected in Kykkos monastery for some 900 years.

According to tradition, the monastery was named after the song of a bird that flew around the area and with human voice said “Κύκκου, Κύκκουτο βουνί/ μοναστήρι θα γενεί./μια χρυσή Κυρά θα μπει /και ποτέ της δεν θα βγει”, which translates as “Kykkou, Kykkou, Kykkos’ hill/ a monastery the site shall fill/ a golden girl shall enter in, and never shall come out again”. We can safely assume that the ‘golden girl’ refers to the icon of the Virgin Mary. The icon, said to have been painted by St. Luke, is one of the most significant of the Orthodox Christian church worldwide, and has been protected in the monastery for some 900 years. It is considered to be a miracle icon, too sacred to be looked at, and is kept hidden under a protective cover. According to legend anyone who lays his eyes on it could turn blind.

The monastery’s site is fairly big, consisting of the monastery building housing the monks’ quarters, the Church itself which houses the icon of the Virgin Mary, and also includes a museum and library rich in treasures of Orthodox Christianity and the School of Theological and Social studies. Visit the tourist pavilion just below the monastery and explore the small tourist shops for some souvenirs and local sweet delicacies, such as soutzoukkos and caramelised nuts, or enjoy a cup of Cyprus coffee with a view of the beautiful green that surrounds the monastery. If on offer at the coffee shop make sure to try some fresh and warm honey covered loukoumades. Rooms are also available for rent at the site so if you want to take your time and discover the hidden treasures kept within the monastery away from the buzz of the city, this is your stop.

Double back on the same road and continue your route straight ahead to the picturesque villages of Tsakistra and Kampos.

Tucked away in the mountainous reaches of the Pafos forest, Tsakistra is together with Kampos one of the most remote and enchanting villages of Cyprus. Some 8 kilometres from Kykkos Monastery with which it is inextricably linked, Tsakistra is surrounded by lush greenery and owes its origins to a 15th century community when the village's main church Agios Nikolaos was built with its tiled roof and simple wooden iconostasis. An agricultural community of loggers and farmers it is particularly known for its cherries, apples and pears, as well as traditional products from the vineyards such as soutzkoukkos and zivania, Cyprus' answer to grappa. Some 3 kilometres away is the neighbouring mountain community of Kampos with its stately sycamore and oak trees and sparkling fresh water springs which you can taste at the fountains in the centre of the village. Look out also for the old village olive press, the water mills, the Folklore Museum and

Agios Nikolaos Tsakistra

Tsakistra

In Tsakistra look out also for the old village olive press, the water mills, and the Folklore Museum as befits a village nestling in the Pafos forest, the two giant oak protected trees in the centre of the village. Kampos' main church, Agios Kyriakos, is the largest wooden roofed church of the island and was built in the 19th century on the site of a small Frankish church.

To prolong your ride to the coast and enjoy some more of the areas forest scenery up close, take the 10 kilometres shortcut from Kampos which connects to the main road through a narrow asphalt road between trees and fields of crops. Drive slowly and with caution, keeping an eye out for oncoming cars that might be coming your way. Take a left on the main road and make your way through the sloping hills into Tilliria, past Pano Pyrgos and onto the coastal and fairly isolated village of

Kato Pyrgos

Kato Pyrgos. It sits on the western tip of Mophou Bay, between the Kokkina enclave to its west, the occupied north of Cyprus to its east, and the wilderness of the hinterland of Tilliria.

Enjoy the beautiful contrast of the wild green of Tilliria on your left and the dramatic coastline of hill girt bays and seaweed-covered rocky shores in the deep blue colours of the Mediterranean

Have something to drink or eat under the soothing shade of the perennial oak tree at the village square.

To reach the next stop, Pachyammos, you need to drive inland through Alevga around the Kokkina Enclave's fences, guard towers and Turkish and UN troops. The scenery and the views ascending the hill are simply amazing. Drive through the serpentine mountain road and enjoy the beautiful contrast of the wild green of Tilliria on your left and the dramatic coastline of hill girt bays and seaweed-covered rocky shores in the deep blue colours of the Mediterranean on your right. You are very likely to across wild and stray goats, so drive with extra caution.

The narrow sandy Blue Flag beach of Pachyammos makes for a nice stop, but if you're pressed for time to head back, drive along the long stretch of pebble beaches of beautiful Pomos, all the way past Nea Dimmata and return to Polis.

We hope you enjoy your time with us in Cyprus and take the opportunity to explore the island. ENJOY YOUR STAY AND PLEASE HELP US KEEP THE ROADS OF CYPRUS SAFE FOR EVERYONE.

Enjoy a different kind of holiday in Cyprus off the beaten track in peace and tranquillity by staying in a restored traditional house in one of the island's many picturesque villages.

Awaken to the sound of a cock crowing, or a donkey braying, take your breakfast in the shade of a vine with the smell of jasmine or wild thyme in the air, go for a long walk in the pine-scented forest, watch how the local bread and 'halloumi' cheese are made and experience rural living at first hand. And when the sun goes down, just lie back and enjoy Cyprus' magical evenings gazing at one of the starriest skies you will ever see, lulled by the gentle sounds of the night crickets.

You will be given the warmest of welcomes, as Cypriots have a reputation for being hospitable, and you will certainly end up making many good friends before you leave. Don't be surprised if your hosts go out of their way to treat you as one of the family, lavishing a veritable feast of local delicacies upon you.

Kalopanagiotis Lefkosia

Try everything by ordering 'mezedes' and wash it all down with one of the local beers or wines. Cyprus' sweet Commandaria wine is one of the oldest in the world, and if you're brave enough, have a shot of 'zivania', which is almost pure alcohol and packs a neat punch.

More than just for summer, Cyprus is perfect at any time of year. Blessed with an abundance of sunshine and warm year-round temperatures, it is a great place to enjoy winter sun, to avoid the crowds in the autumn and to marvel at nature's springtime tapestry of colour. With rugged coasts and mountain peaks, sunny vineyards and cool pine forests, flat expanses of wheat fields and lush citrus orchards, the island has something for everyone.

And when you've had your fill of relaxing, you'll find that in Cyprus there's much to see and do. Play a round of golf, go cycling, or hiking round the countryside, or take up a new sport. Or wonder at spectacular Greek temples, opulent Byzantine churches and ancient artefacts that are the remnants of a civilisation going back 10,000 years.

The properties offered are a great base from where to explore the island. Carefully renovated to maintain their distinctive character, while including all modern conveniences, they are ideal for those seeking comfort and privacy in friendly and attractive surroundings.

Byzantine Churches and Monasteries

Many fine examples of Byzantine art have survived on the island that can be seen /admired both in painted churches with colourful frescoes and monasteries. Because of the eminent importance of the icons and frescoes, most churches and monasteries are kept locked. Therefore, visitors wishing to see any of these churches should first ask at the "coffee shop" of the village for the priest or any other responsible person who will escort them. The Cyprus Tourism Organisation's publication "10,000 years of History and Civilisation" refers briefly to various churches and monasteries on the island. Some of the monasteries have visiting hours which have to be respected by visitors.

Important Notes:

- Wearing shorts, backless tops,

very short dresses etc., should be avoided.
- The use of flash is prohibited as it may damage the icons and frescoes.
- No accommodation is available in the monasteries.
- Most of the monasteries and convents remain closed on Saturday or Sunday for group visits.
- It is advisable especially for certain monasteries e.g. Machairas and Agios Irakleidos that the guiding should be done outside the monasteries.
